

The guide to being a mentor

Being a mentor in the Lloyd's Lab is both an eye opening and rewarding opportunity. Throughout the 10 week process and beyond, you will get an insight into the advanced technology that is being introduced in the industry but also the ability to advise and mould a product for the Lloyd's Market.

How am I matched with a team?

Prior to the teams joining the Lloyd's Lab, a deck of all teams will be sent to all interested mentors. This will give you an opportunity to learn about what they do, where you can then put yourself forward.

Time Commitment

Each week you can expect a minimum of 1-2 hours of meetings/feedback sessions with the team(s) you are mentoring.

Online or in-person?

All mentor meetings scheduled are set up for both online or in-person. Therefore we have mentors from across the world.

What is in it for me?

Besides the rewarding nature of helping build a new and innovative product for the Lloyd's market, you will also be invited to all of our events and networking sessions throughout the year.

What is expected of me?

Aside from being engaged with the teams, all that is expected is to help how you can! By using your Lloyd's market experience, the knowledge and feedback given is invaluable.

How can I get involved?

If you would like to mentor, contact the Lloyd's Lab team or join us on Pitch Day. Please email Lloydslab@lloyds.com.
