

Cohort 9 Teams

nPlan has developed Project Overrun Insurance. A product that leverages data from over 600,000 schedules to price the likelihood of a project delay. nPlan is now seeking capacity for the product and is interested in discussions with providers.

You can visit nPlan's website here

Innovatrix entered the Lab with the problem and a parametric risk transfer solution. They have now honed their solution set to work for the Lloyd's marketplace. They are now seeking £550k of seed investment and the securing of insurance capacity.

You can visit Innovatrix's website here

Altelium developed General Liability policy underpinned by real-time battery data analytics and risk management for Battery Energy Storage Systems (BESS). They are now looking for Lead / Follow Capacity and Distribution Channels.

You can visit Altelium's website here

Anansi adapted its embedded goods-in-transit insurance product, currently designed for small to medium sized retailers, to serve the needs of large retailers. Their asks are distribution opportunities, capacity discussions and raising an EIS eligible investment round.

You can visit Anansi's website here

OTT Risk has partnered with ibott syndicate 1971 to build revenue protections for the digital economy: the sharing economy, marketplaces, online travel agents and more. They are creating parametric business interruption cover, fit for our modern economy.

You can visit OTT Risk's website here

Yokahu developed a product to predict which of a lender's borrowers will miss repayments after events like floods and hurricanes. Allowing the lender to automate repayment relief and cover their losses with parametric insurance - this helps with capital provisioning and lowers default.

You can visit Yokahu's website here

Sola launched their tornado product and developed their wind/hail policy to help homeowners and small businesses cover their deductible and immediate expenses after catastrophic events. They are looking for more reinsurance capacity support.

You can visit Sola's website here

Kayna has developed embedded infrastructure technology that allows insurers and brokers to distribute via vertical software platforms. Kayna is looking forward to partnering with SMB insurers and brokers who are interested in new distribution channels and new data.

You can visit Kayna's website here

ARMD came into the Lab to build 2 new products, and they leave 10 weeks later with agreements in principle for both. Anybody connected to possible affinity partners or interested to hear more about their upcoming fundraiser please reach out.

You can visit ARMD's website here